

Professional Certification in Program Evaluation

A new session of the Program Evaluation certificate at the University of Washington will start in October 2006. Applications are now being accepted.

The Certificate in Program Evaluation is a series of courses designed for professionals in fields that involve program evaluation, such as education, social work, business, public policy, international development, public health and non-profit management. In particular the first course in the series will greatly benefit not only those who are involved in program evaluation, but also educators and professionals who are in the process of designing a project, writing a grant, analyzing a policy or planning any type of intervention. Additional information is available on the following website:

http://www.extension.washington.edu/ext/certificates/eva/eva_gen.asp

This information can also be accessed by perusing the UW Extension certificate list at www.extension.washington.edu

If you have any questions, please contact Shannan Schumacher (sschumacher@extn.washington.edu 206-685-6518) or Mona Murr Kunselman (206-685-6514 mkunselman@extn.washington.edu)